Art Car Boot Sale announce the list of 100+ artists for its fifth edition

Art Car Boot Sale, Scotland's biggest contemporary art market, have shared the artist line-up for their fifth edition. Taking place at SWG3 in the venue's vast indoor and outdoor spaces on Saturday 24th and Sunday 25th June, this exciting showcase of art is brought to you by Patricia Fleming Gallery and SWG3.

Today's announcement brings together over 100 renowned artists from across Scotland and beyond, who will sell work straight from their studios, from the boots of cars, vans, bikes and the odd skateboard. The artist list is packed with an array of talent including Turner Prize nominees to award-winning, internationally renowned artists and emerging stars of the future.

Glasgow based visual artist Claire Barclay, who represented Scotland at the Venice Biennale in 2003, will return to Art Car Boot Sale. She is recognized for creating large-scale installations that explore the nature of materials and our complex relationships with them.

Amanda Seibæk will make her Art Car Boot Sale debut. Working across digital drawing, painting and print she uses various themes to ask questions, to stretch facts into fiction, and to visualise inner emotions. Her work has been exhibited in Denmark, England and most recently her acclaimed Hemispheres exhibition at SWG3. In 2022, she was the recipient of the The Jon McFarland Print Prize and was also shortlisted for the John Byrne award.

Also confirmed is Sekai Machache, a Zimbabwean-Scottish visual artist and curator based in Glasgow. Machache's work brings together layers of drawing, performance, film and photography into photographic compositions that deeply interrogate the notion of self. Her practice is heavily influenced by African metaphysics and cosmology, ritual practice and performance, while her most recent project focuses on the Scottish landscape, Celtic folklore and Black Scottish Identity. Through a process of disseminating symbolic imagery, her work surfaces concerns around slavery, colonialism and the racial profile of rural Scotland.

Curated by a team of industry professionals, the Art Car Boot Sale is an invitation into Glasgow's internationally recognised contemporary art sector. This special weekend gives visitors the opportunity to meet and buy directly from the artists, with prices ranging from £5.00 to £5000.00.

The artist line-up for 2023 includes lots of regulars as well as many artists joining for the first time. View the full list below.

The gallery partners with Art Money to support interest free purchases over 10 months available for items £1000 and over.

Meryl Gilbert, Arts and Business Director, SWG3, said: "We are excited to be collaborating again this year with Patricia Fleming Gallery for the fifth edition of the Art Car Boot Sale. The annual event is a highlight in the SWG3 calendar and one that we all look forward to. Bringing together fantastic artists all under one roof selling a diverse range of incredible work along with workshops, DJs, food and drinks this weekend has something for everyone to enjoy.”

Patricia Fleming, said: “Small pleasures; lunch with friends, meeting new folks, talking about art and leaving with an artwork you thought you couldn’t afford. Art Car Boot Sale at SWG3, is Glasgow at its best.”
