Pan American Art Projects is pleased to announce "Whispers of Nature," a solo show by Carolina Sardi. The show presents a captivating collection of sculptures that delve into the profound connection between humanity and the natural world.

"Whispers of Nature" serves as a poignant reminder of humanity's interconnectedness with the natural world, encouraging a deeper appreciation for the beauty and significance of our environment. Sardi's wall installations and sculptures act as vessels, carrying the echoes of nature's voice and inviting viewers to reconnect with the earth's rhythms, showcasing Sardi's remarkable ability to transform metal into poetic expressions of the natural world. Through intricate designs and thoughtful composition, Sardi allows visitors to contemplate the delicate equilibrium between the elements, offering a visual dialogue on the harmony and symbiosis found in nature. Despite the finiteness of the material, Sardi's sculptural elements capture the feelings found in the wild, permitting the public to pause and immerse themselves in moments of quiet reflection. Through her artistry, she transcends the boundaries of materiality, infusing her creations with a sense of life, movement, and spirit.

About the gallery

Pan American Art Projects was established in 2001 to exhibit and promote established and emerging artists from North, Central and South America, providing a context for dialogue between the various regions.

The gallery started operating in Dallas in 2004 with the exhibit "80 Years of Cuban Art", which included essential works by most principal Cuban artists. We opened the Wynwood location in Miami in 2006, where we produced large exhibits like "Ferrari and Bony," with catalog introduction by Luis Camnitzer, and “Denarrations,” curated by Gerardo Mosquera, which included works, among others, by Aernout Mik, Vibeke Tandberg, and Tracey Snelling (the video by Mik was being shown concurrently at MoMA).

We represent a strong roster of American contemporary artists and hold a collection of essential works from Cuba, Argentina, the U.S., and the Caribbean. Our programming reflects these complementary arenas, providing a comprehensive historical context for contemporary tendencies in the visual arts from these regions. We work closely with our artists to broaden their exposure to opportunities through various forms of sponsorship and exhibition collaborations with cultural institutions locally, nationally and internationally. They have received several awards, such as the Leone d’Oro at the Venice Biennale (Ferrari), the “Ellies” (Sandra Ramos and Carlos Estevez), the Pollock-Krasner Award (Snelling), “Artist of the Year” in Cuba (Toirac and Fors); French Republic Cultural Award (Duval Carrie’); National Cultural Award, Cuba (R. Diago); Salon de la Mujer, Museo de La Plata, Argentina (Sardi).

We have collaborated with other galleries, sponsored public exhibits, and placed our artists in museums and important private collections: PAMM, The Tate, London; Museum of Fine Arts, Houston; Frost Art Museum, Miami; Museo Solo, Madrid; Museum of African-American Art, Los Angeles; Museum of African-American Art, Dallas; Museum of Contemporary Art, Ft. Lauderdale; the Daros Foundation, Zurich; the heir to the throne, currently King of Holland; Ms. Betty De Woody, Coral Gables; the Rubins Foundation, New York; Mr. Howard Farber, New York; Jorge Perez’s Espacio 23, Miami; Bank of Nova Scotia collection, Toronto; Deutsche Bank collection, New York, among others. We also work actively with our holdings through various philanthropic endeavors to assist important non-profit institutions working in all regions of the Americas.

We recently opened our second location, just a 5-minute drive from our main gallery. This new space is in the Miami Design District at 19-21 NE 39th Street, Miami, FL 33137. As the building is divided into two large spaces, we will dedicate one to curated collectives and the other to our represented artists’ solo exhibits and “Focus Labs” (hints of an artist’s most current works facing the street through the full-size storefront).
