

Jan Vercruysse
CHARLIE WAS A SAILOR
a work in more parts than one & more
& a constellation(s) of works from 1988 through 2011
28 February – 29 March 2014

Press Release

Xavier Hufkens presents a new work by Jan Vercruysse (b. 1948) entitled Charlie Was a Sailor. Exhibited alongside a selection of works made over the last twenty years, the title of the work and exhibition is a reference to Lionel Hampton's jazz song Charlie Was a Sailor. Recorded in 1940, the lyrics recount the romantic adventures of the eponymous Charlie, a Lothario with a 'woman in every port' who ends up – quite literally – in hot water. Having clarified this initial springboard, we can immediately disregard it inasmuch as the artist is not interested in the song per se, but in the structure of the music and the story: the tragi-comic death of a virile man with a lust for life and love. Jan Vercruysse's Charlie Was a Sailor (2014) takes the form of four parts in grey cardboard with silkscreen printing of words and/or symbols, phrases (both complete and incomplete) and blocks of colour. Each work is put forward without any link to the others, except in terms of technical execution and 'outline'.

Yet the compositions of lines and empty spaces in Charlie Was a Sailor hark back to the Tombeaux, a series of works created by the artist between 1987 and 1994 (two of which are included in the exhibition). Conceived as 'places of memory', or 'bearers of memory', the works contain, or contemplate, a 'void' – an empty space that can be filled by an imaginary presence. This/these presence(s) find(s) 'voice' in the works exhibited, which can be viewed individually or as a 'constellation'. Charlie Was a Sailor also references and underscores earlier works in the exhibition such as Places (2005), which deals with the notions of absence/presence, loss and memory in combination with the exploration of the meaning of 'place' and the possibility of rendering this philosophical concept into a work of art, and Places [Lost] (2010), which explores places of memory that concentrate meanings, events and fragments of experience.

Vercruysse has always worked in series, each of which represents a new quest in search of the place of art and the artist. The most important of these are: Portraits of the Artist (1978-1984), Chambres (1983-1986), Atopies (1985-1987), Tombeaux (1987-1994), the M(M) works (1992-1998), Les Paroles (1993-1998), Les Paroles [Letto] (1998-2001) and, since 2004, Places. The exhibition includes key works from many of these series and reveals, in Charlie Was a Sailor, the most recent manifestation of Vercruysse's unforgettable visual poetry.

The work of Jan Vercruysse is part of important museum collections such as The Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) in New York, Tate Modern in London and Museum van Hedendaagse Kunst (MuHKA) in Antwerp. Solo exhibitions include the Museum of Modern Art in Paris (1986), Kunsthalle in Bern (1989), Van Abbemuseum in Eindhoven (1990, 1997), the Belgian pavilion at the Venice Biennale (1993), the Haus Lange und Haus Esters in Krefeld (1995) and a major retrospective Museum M in Leuven (2009). Recently, the work And Then There Were None, which precedes Charlie Was a Sailor, was exhibited at Tucci Russo Studio per l'Arte Contemporanea in Turin (2013).

Jan Vercruysse

CHARLIE WAS A SAILOR

a work in more parts than one & more

& a constellation(s) of works from 1988 through 2011

28 February – 29 March 2014

Room 1

Tombeaux (X), 1994
45 red wax seals
225 x 170 x 1,5 cm

Tombeaux, 1991
Black pigmented varnish on wood
60 x 220 x 12 cm

Tombeaux, 1989
Blue pigmented varnish on wood
227 x 547 x 11 cm

Les Paroles (XV), 1996
Lead on cherry wood, colours on wood (yellow, blue, green, red, black, white, purple)
165 x 230 x 121 cm

Les Paroles (I), 1993
White colour on wood, iron, brass
138 x 250 x 170 cm

Tombeaux, 1989
Black pigmented varnish on wood
92 x 75 x 45 cm

Room 2

Places (II.1), 2004
Black coated and painted steel
20 x 110 x 80 cm

Room 3

Tombeaux, (1988) 1991 # 4
iron coatrack, cobalt blue glass chair
260 x 37,5 x 207,5 cm

Room 4

PLACES (III.8) - Venus, 2009
Neo Africa marble
2 x 93 x 64 cm

Places [Lost] - 9, 2010
painted bronze (unique work)
44 x 153 x 67 cm

PLACES (III.8) - Rochetta Tanaro, 2009
Bianco arabescato venato marble
2 x 103 x 73 cm

CHARLIE WAS A SAILOR, 2014
Digital print on cardboard
125 x 382 cm

PLACES (III.8) - Casablanca, 2009
Bianco Carrara venato marble
2 x 93 x 64 cm

Tombeaux, 1988
black pigmented varnish on wood,
2 rubber & brass wheels
80 x 50 x 50 cm

Stèles 2, 2000
Black & white photograph on black matte board, glass, steel supports
136,5 x 92,7 x 5,1 cm