27 October – 16 December 2017

Galleri Bo Bjerggaard, west wing

On Friday 27 October, Galleri Bo Bjerggaard will open its final major exhibition of the year, Owners' Choice – a celebration of the past ten years, when the gallery has been based in the Meatpacking District of Copenhagen. Over the decade, the gallery has witnessed the transformation of the quarter from a place of empty premises, where the meat industry still dominated the scene, and where there were plenty of political visions but a lack of corresponding sense of reality, to today's vibrant, pulsating district with restaurants, galleries and a dynamic street scene.

The works in Owners' Choice have been selected by the three owners of the gallery, Morten Korsgaard, Britt and Bo Bjerggaard; Owners' Choice is thus an exhibition that, with its fifteen personal choices, tells the story of a small sample of the many exhibitions that have been held in the gallery during its ten years in the Meatpacking District.

The exhibition includes films, sculpture, paintings and photography. There will be new works that have never been exhibited before, as well as older works that have mostly been shown in other contexts. You can for example see a charcoal drawing by Jannis Kounellis from 1979, and revisit the film amazon by A K Dolven, which was first shown at the gallery's opening exhibition in 2007.

All are welcome to attend the opening reception on Friday 27 October from 5.00-8.00 PM, where you can at the same time see the exhibition Per Kirkeby, Close-up in the gallery's east-facing exhibition rooms. For further information and photographic material on the exhibitions, please e-mail the gallery at bibi@bjerggaard.com or call us at +45 5196 5096.
