SHAI-LEE HORODI

Blue Woman with a Red-Greenish Vagina

Opening: Saturday June 22nd, 10am - 1pm

In Shai-Lee Horodi's exhibition, Blue Woman with a Red-Greenish Vagina, a new video piece entitled I M Free Free M I is shown. In it, the artist attempts to break the boundaries of the video's internal world outwards to the world of the viewer. Sovereignty and subjugation clash, merge and disperse. Movement and vibration appear as objecting forces that offer different meanings to the term 'life'. The separation of surface and mater collapses simultaneously with its reinforcement. Works shown beside the video piece deal with the mechanisms of seeing, optics and the establishing of self, the inscription of value into mater and the conceptual possibilities of this process. The exhibition offers diverse possibilities of action unified under a single conceptual umbrella, from the constitution of a separate economy on top of the ruling one to the constitution of selfhood insubordinate to identity, from the development of a gaze that transcends the limits of sight to a gender transition that does not revolve appearance.
